

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSIONS AND SUGGESTIONS

Conclusion and suggestions made up the two sub-chapters of this chapter. The study and suggestions are simply summarized in the conclusion and directed to theoretical and practical needs.

A. Conclusions

1. Moral value found in the main character of A Man Called Otto movie.

Based on the results of the findings, it can be concluded that “A Man Called Otto” movie is containing several moral values to inspire the audience, there are Helpfulness, responsibility, courage, honesty, and fairness. This moral value is obtained from the main character of the movie namely Otto Anderson. In the movie, the character displays different moral values. The moral values in the film are a form of resistance to bad moral values regarding the deprivation of rights and also moral values between neighbors. So we as the audience must be able to take the positive and negative sides of the moral values that have been conveyed by the main characters.

2. Types of moral value found in the main character of A Man Called Otto movie

Based on the results of the findings, each of moral values is classified into two types of moral values, there are Moral values related to Human and moral values related to Self/Individual. Moral value related to Humans contains 3 moral value there are Helpfulness, responsibility, and fairness. Meanwhile, moral value related to Self/Individual contains 2 of moral values there are Courage and Honesty.

Analysis reveals that the main characters of "A Man Called Otto" mostly show helpfulness, followed by responsibility and courage. These values are very important in shaping the actions of the characters and the overall storyline of the film. Honesty and justice, although rare, are also important components in the formation of moral character. This distribution underscores the complex and varied nature of the characters' ethical principles, contributing to the film's rich and nuanced depiction.

B. Suggestions

For educators, this film should be an additional reference of educational media for teachers in providing education about good moral values to be applied to students.

For students, this film should be an education to students about moral values, which is good to take the positive side and apply in the school environment and society.

For the future researcher, this study should serve as a reference for researchers in the future. Hope for the future researcher should focus on different things such as badness as a form of attitude that also needs to be highlighted as a form of comparison to good moral values with theory, subject, and media for the next study to be better.
